Mystery Attached to American Legion Show Monday

Publicity Man Gives Hint Of Thrilling Event

Legionnaires will be more than likely to learn that the Entertainment Committee of the American Legion Post has been so fortunate as to engage for next Monday night the talented and versatile M. M. Printemps. The name is well known, but for the benefit of the less fortunate brethren, it may be well to point out that even the games of the much heralded Chautauqua will be in line in the Legion show next Monday night.

We might continue and tell you of the various features of the committee to secure this much sought after entertainer, but they have been so busy in French, English and German, that they could not find time to do so.

There are other things promised, but it would not be to detail them at this time, as it is not the policy of the committee to advertise until the last moment.

Regular notices have been sent out to all the members, stating that the committee has promised a "Gypsy" event, but they had not the slightest suspicion.

Of course, it goes without saying that a large attendance is expected, either way we should be thankful to the artistic temperament of M. M. Printemps.

SIR ISAAC NEWTON'S PREDICTION.

Sir Isaac Newton, the discoverer of the law of gravity, wrote a book on the prophecy of Daniel. He believed the prediction that in "the time of the end many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased." Dan. 12: 1. He meant that knowledge of the end shall be widely disseminated in the last days by unusually speedy methods of transportation and communication. He predicted that within a century he lived in the end of the 17th and the beginning of the 18th centuries, people would travel at the rate of 50 miles an hour.

Rev. Dr. Harris H. Gregg, who is to conduct a week's meeting in the Presbyterian Church of Narberth, from March 11 to 16, related this incident at a recent meeting in the Gurnick Theater, in Philadelphia, where he speaks every Sunday afternoon at 4 P. M. on "Christ or Evolution." He said the prediction came true when a Christian inventor, Watts, invented steam propulsion. A Christian inventor, Fulton, applied the invention to the steamboat; a Christian inventor, Morse, gave us the telegraph. God seems to have used Christian men to make Daniel's prophecy come true, for all these inventions and the propagation of Gospel knowledge.

Dr. Gregg is not to speak in Narberth on either evolution or prophecy, but will give a series of Gospel addresses.

NARBERTH BOY SCOUTS.

An appeal for funds to pay the Troop expenses is now in process of being mailed to residents of the Borough.

It is hoped that this appeal will meet with the response it deserves. Having in mind the desirability of keeping expenses at a minimum, no receipts will be sent to contributors and specific acknowledgment will not therefore be made.

The thanks of the Scout Master and Troop Committee will be later expressed in the columns of Our Town.

Many donors last year and in previous years requested that their names be not published.

SCOUT MASTER AND COMMITTEE.

PHONOGRAPH RECORDS

An opportunity to purchase the new and best dance and other records is offered by Mrs. R. L. Cacci, proprietor of the Narberth Boot Shop, who has secured an agency for Victor Records, needles, etc.

At present only the new records are in stock, but others will be secured on order.

Send in Fireside Items.

Juniors Postpone "Green Stockings"

Co-operate With Chautauqua by Waiting One Week

In last week's Our Town, lengthy notice was given to Swarthmore Chautauqua, which will be at the High School Auditorium on February 28th, March 1st and 2nd. Unfortunately, March 2nd happened to be the date chosen for the Junior Play, and there was the real "counter attraction" running the same night, would naturally mean that the anxiety of support to the town would not be given to either, so the Juniors have made arrangements to postpone until the following week, March 9th.

The difference in date makes no difference in the prices quoted or in the venue. Elm Hall still remains the venue, showing the much talked about "Green Stockings," and as to price, general admission will be seventy-five cents as before, with one dollar the charge for the more number of reserved seats.

Some tickets have been sold already on March 2nd, but the Juniors do not want to take an unfair advantage of the change in date. Therefore, in case you have made plans to go on March 2nd, but March 9th proves to be an inconvenient date, the purchase price of the tickets will be refunded, provided you are not returned before March 1st. After that date no refund will be made. You can really see that it is necessary for us to put a time limit on this refund privilege. However, we are hoping you will not have another "change" and the tickets will remain sold, as is. We feel sure that we would have had good support on our original date when there was no counter attraction, and now that we have changed the date to the following week, we hope Elm Hall will be crowded just the same.

Remember, "Green Stockings" will be in evidence one evening, March 9th, and you don't want to let the opportunity slip. Go to the Chautauqua on Friday, March 2nd, and then keep March 9th, the following Friday, for "Green Stockings."

A TRIP TO THE ACADEMY OF THE FINE ARTS.

Thirteen members of the Women's Community Club started off bright and early last Saturday morning, not to catch the worm, but to get to the Academy of the Fine Arts in plenty of time to see all of the exhibit.

The delegation was met at the Academy by Miss Masters, an artist, who started with these amateur art critics on their round of the galleries.

Do you like this picture? I don't like that picture. Why do you think that one is good? was heard again and again till almost by force many of the would-be art critics learned their lesson.

There was the "Portrait of My Mother," by George W. Bellows, some but interesting. "A Gypsy with Cigarette," by Robert Henri, the other extreme, with bright eyes and wonderful coloring. The unusual "Camp at Lake O'Hara," by John Singer Sargent, unusual because Sargent is foremost a portrait painter, and this is a picture of the woods. The queer, bright colors that Breckenridge has adopted and the soft, lovely scene, "Lowry's Hill," painted by Daniel Garber.

There was one picture over which much discussion raged. It was "The Print," by Sidney E. Dickenson. "Isn't she lovely, and just look at her hair," "But," says the Artist, "if you look again you will notice that while the room is in the shadow the figure of the nude is bright." And the amateur critics had never noticed it.

In the place of honor at the end of the long gallery was Joseph De Camp's "The Blue Kimono." This is a picture worth many hours of study, from the titian hair past the dark silk over the shoulders to the bright colors at the wrists. Under this picture hangs a memorial wreath, as Joseph De Camp died just after the exhibit opened.

There were many pieces of sculpture, but one especially that everyone wished to take home. This was the sun dial by Brenda Putnam, awarded the Widener medal.

The figure is of a child riding a dragon whose tail extends over the dial. The figure is so lovely and full of life, as it stands upon its toes, that everyone was charmed by it.

Lower Merion Will Take Our Pupils

Agrees to Transfer of Three Upper Grades

That arrangements for the transfer of the upper three classes of the Narberth High School to Lower Merion in the fall are reaching a stage of completion is indicated by the following communication received from the School Board by Our Town:

The School Board of Lower Merion Township has submitted papers of agreement relative to the taking over of Narberth's three Senior High School classes in September. These papers are now before the Narberth Board awaiting formal action, which will probably be taken at the next meeting of the Board.

HENRY ROSE,

Secretary.

The papers of agreement submitted to the Narberth School Board for action today the decision made by the Lower Merion authorities to accept the students under the plans outlined.

At the meeting of the Lower Merion Board, held Wednesday night of last week it was voted to take the students of the Narberth High School, of the Sophomore, Junior and Senior years, into the Senior Lower Merion High School next year. Narberth will maintain its own "Junior High School," retaining its freshmen under its own wing.

The tuition will be somewhere between $125 and $150 per year per pupil. It is expected that about 80 students will be involved in the transfer. The Borough school authorities must transport the students to the Ardmore plant.

NARBERTH H. S. BOYS DEFEAT GIRLS.

In the annual booster game, held last Friday night, the Narberth H. S. Boys defeated the girls by the score of 26 to 17. The spectators enjoyed many hearty laughs at the boys, who were attired in bloomers and midly blouses and whose faces were lavishly painted and powdered. Captain Heckler's lay-out for games also caused a sensation. Jimmy Needham started for the girls, scoring their only field goal and shooting 15 out of 24 foul chances.

WILLIAM C. POOR

William Cheney Poor, father of Mrs. Romaine C. Hoffman, of Forest Avenue, died suddenly in Seattle, Washington, last Friday.

Mr. Poor had been visiting his sister in Seattle since last April. Death was due to heart disease, although he had apparently been in the best of health. He was seventy-five years of age.

The death of Mr. Poor removes one of Narberth's best known and most respected citizens. A friend of every child in Narberth that knew him—and they are legion—he will be missed alike by children and adults.

Memorial services were held at Mrs. Hoffman's home on Tuesday night, in charge of Rev. Chris G. Koppel, former pastor of the Methodist Church, and Rev. Harry M. Chalfant. Both of these men were close personal friends of Mr. Poor.

In addition to Mrs. Hoffman, three children survive. They are Fred A. Poor, of Chicago, Charles O. Poor, of Montreal, and Samuel S. Poor, of New York.

Interment will be made at Andover, Maine, where Mrs. Poor is also buried.

Chautauqua Next Week To Provide Varied Programs

Cost of $1.50 for Season Brings Civic Association Series in Reach of Every Resident

An exceptional opportunity for education and pleasure will be afforded in the series of Chautauqua programs to be presented next week under the auspices of the Narberth Civic Association.

The series of programs will be offered by the Swarthmore Chautauqua on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the afternoon and evening of February 28th, and March 1st and 2nd.

The fact that the cost for the entire series is only $1.50 has led the Association to believe that a capacity house will greet the Chautauqua when it opens on Wednesday afternoon.

That the series is educational as well as entertaining has been shown by the fact that the School Directors have consented to the use of the School building for the series, at no cost to the Civic Association. Many organizations of Narberth are also co-operating to make this the greatest success possible. The Junior Community Club, realizing that the dates chosen for the Chautauqua were the only ones possible, have postponed the date of their play one week, and are backing next week's series.

Season tickets are now on sale at many stores in Narberth, as well as by the Directors of the Civic Association. Credit to Narberth towards the financial guarantee is given only by the sale of these advance tickets, so special efforts are being made to have every family represented by the opening date. A saving of two-thirds in the cost is effected by the season tickets, which makes them a desirable buy from a financial standpoint.

An idea of the quality of the entertainment offered will be gained by reading the paragraphs dealing with the artists forming a part of the Chautauqua. Talent and human interest is

Community Club Is Proud of its Talent

Chinese Program Tuesday Prosperity Indicated By A Success

On last Tuesday afternoon the Community Club room was filled and the "Standing Room Only" sign was up long before the curtain rose on the afternoon's program.

The subject to be presented was "China," and as one entered the room the decorations left no doubt as to the topic selected for the day.

Mrs. Milton Alexander had been appointed hostess, and to her and her aides belong the praise for the wonderful arrangement of the room and the bright and colorful decorations. The room was made to resemble a Chinese cafe. Small tables seating four, covered the floor space, and on each table was a teapot and tea cups with out handles, in true Oriental style. Lanterns and umbrellas, fans and flowers were abundant and bright colored paper waved from the ceiling.

Mrs. E. C. Batchelor opened the program with a short talk on Chinese poetry and drama. Their poems, she explained, were those of reflection and minute observation and their supreme emotion that of a man for his friend. Mrs. Batchelor then read several selections from Waley's translation of Chinese poetry.

"The Yellow Jacket" was selected as the sample of Chinese drama. Mrs. W. J. Jones first gave a resume of the play and then the Dramatic Reading Class produced the first act.

The Club is proud to find so much talent among its members, and too much credit cannot be given to Mrs. J. P. Donnelly, who coached the play and produced such excellent results. Most of the costumes were made by the actresses themselves and deserve much praise. There was not a single halt in the whole act and many expressions of surprise and pleasure were uttered over such finished work.

Those who took part in the "Yellow Jacket" were:

Mrs. J. P. Donnelly,
Mrs. A. C. Staples,
Mrs. G. M. Davis,
Mrs. G. M. Gill,
Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller,
Mrs. J. H. Speck,

The complete program is also included.

Fara Groves Company

Two musical programs of note will be given on one day by the Fara Groves Company.

Violon, flute, piccolo, clarinet, saxophone, guitar, harp, cornet, and piano are the instruments of the sextette. Photo and violin duets; flute, violin, cello, and piano quartets; clarinet and cornet duets; and saxophone and harp specialties will be some of the combination instrumental features.

Musical pleasure every taste will make on their programs, with plenty of variety and no waits. "Snap, dash, and go" typify the character of this company's work. At night will come the much-talked-of Gypsy program. Special Gypsy costumes, with a Gypsy camp setting, will furnish the atmosphere to make more realistic the unique rhythm and appealing melody of the Gypsy music. The Gypsy's music comes direct from the heart, it is an interpretation of his life. Hear it at its best at Chautauqua.

Dunbar Bell Ringers

The Dunbar Bell Ringers, who have gained a country-wide reputation for their hand bell ringing, will appear here on the coming Chautauqua program. We quote from the advance announcements of this attraction:

"From the moment they step on the platform, the Dunbar Quartet and Bell Ringers have won their audience. The spectators realize at once that there are not four individuals, but one organization."

The program will consist of hand bell ringing, which this organization places among the arts instead of making it a mere specialty; of vocal music.

B. & L. Statement Interesting

Prosperity Indicated By Annual Report

The Sixteenth Annual Statement of the Narberth Building and Loan Association, printed on Page 4, shows its stockholders and friends that we have an Association in Narberth that will compare with any in Philadelphia or its suburbs.

The assets of the Association March 1st, 1908, were $12,912.65, and you will notice from the above statement that they are now $616,179.68; and you may form a better idea about the size of this Association to know that they have mortgaged over 1,500 shares and paid its stockholders $303,500.

There are over 11,000 shares now in force, and the receipts in dues, fines, interest, premiums and amounts paid off on mortgage loans vary monthly from $15,000 to $25,000.

New series are opened twice a year, at the March meeting and at the September meeting. The next new series will be opened on Thursday evening, March 1st, at Elm Hall, from 7 until 9 and will be the 35th series of the Narberth Building and Loan Association. Both long and short term stock will be issued and the entrance fee is twenty-five cents a share on either kind. You may become a stockholder by a monthly payment of one dollar, or you can increase this amount to any size you wish. The short term series has a decided appeal to the majority of people, as it matures in a little over six years, while the long term takes over eleven years.

The earnings on both the short term and long term stock is about 8 1/2%, and the long term requires a monthly payment of one dollar per share in dues, while the short term is two dollars a month per share.

The security covering the loans of the Association is carefully chosen, first by a committee of three of the Directors, then by the entire Board of Directors, and finally is passed on legally by the Solicitor.

Most of the properties on which the Association has mortgages are your neighbors, right here in Narberth, and they have been so carefully picked that it has never been required that the Narberth Building and Loan Association

A FORWARD STEP.

The statement by the Narberth Board of School Directors that the Lower Merion authorities have given formal agreement to the amalgamation of the Senior High Schools is another great step towards the completion of the plans.

Our own School Board deserves much commendation for the prompt and effective way in which the expressed will of the voters has been carried out. It was but a little over three months ago that the defeat of the elementary school plan compelled the Board to completely revise their plan for school accommodations. Not only had the building plans to be laid aside, but a complete investigation of the new project was necessary before arrangements could be completed.

In the face of these facts, contributing to delay, the negotiations have proceeded with dispatch and are now about ready to witness the closing of the deal with the Township authorities.

There are a few who hold to the idea that the 1918 grade shift has been included in the transfer but such an arrangement was practically impossible at this time. Lower Merion, as well as Narberth, operates the upper grades on the Junior and Senior High School plan, making the division at the upper three, instead of the upper four grades, as was formerly the custom.

In accordance with this grouping, the Lower Merion system is divided as is Narberth's, and the transporting of the upper three grades means the elimination of a complete unit from our system, leaving the Junior High School intact.

For this reason, the disruption of our own plant will be reduced to a minimum, and we will be better able to observe the working out of the new plan with the upper grade students.

It is the general feeling that the arrangements nearing completion represent the highest judgment that could be brought to bear at this time. The new plan will release some rooms at the Narberth plant, and will offer a practical demonstration of the working out of the two different modes of education.

With the experience gained with this venture as a background, the advisability of further combination can be worked out. At the present time, it is gratifying to know that the long looked for combination is about to be made, and that the School Board has interpreted to the fullest the win and judgment of the people.

And now we must wait, and watch.

NEW ELECTRIC STORE

The remodelled store recently completed by Howard E. Davis is being occupied by the Narberth Electric Shop. Mr. Walter G. Case, owner of the shop, has conducted his business for a number of years in Narberth, and has had an office and small stock room in a corner of the Narberth Garage.

In the new, large store will be carried a full line of electric goods, fixtures, devices, etc., in addition to radio outfits and supplies. When completely fitted and equipped, this new store will be a distinct addition to our business section.

AMBITIONS

A real protective zoning ordinance, to work with the revised borough building code, that will protect the residence section of the town and compel stores, public garages and other business establishments to locate in a prescribed area.

A means of disposing of boxes, packing materials and other burnable litter and refuse that accumulates daily in our stores and cannot conveniently be stored, with a thought to fire safety, until the regular ash and rubbish collections.

A bright and colorful spot just north of the rail road station on the plot now occupied by a few neglected old shrubs.

A macadam street instead of a mud road on Sabine avenue, fronting our school buildings, with traffic regulations that will prevent its being a menace to our school children.

THE TOWER OF BABBLE

By Collum Righter

Chickens inevitably come home to roost. Organized assortments of sweet citizens feeding their pet ventures, voting toward the racks of disaster, seek the cover of night in the privacy of the telephone instrument and be seek Columnar aid. By this it would seem our words hold a value along and various lines much sought after. The acknowledgment of this started many months ago with a communication directed to us in which a frank estimate was given of the great store set by whatever we should or should not say something in a local enterprise known as The Community Library. We took our part and pen the closing day of the year just past received a letter of appreciation, the contents of which have neither been referred to nor divulged hitherto. That time, the game was worth the candle.

The esteemed Choral Society have cast into port listing heavily to starboard, with rockets flinging red blots of glare on her dripping decks, with seventeen forward compartments stove in, with all life boats provisioned and the crew in sou'westers manning the pumpkins. Choral Society was advised it would be wrong to seek out in ways of publicity, but even in the face of warning nothing else would be had. We did our duty again. The result is history. Our praises were sung in one end of town to further. Our feat was demanded on a silver, and the fact that the Civic Association list of no silver among their club house banishments saved our life. Gentlemen considered to be us were treated to conversations of no uncertain meanings before said gentlemen could get a word in edgewise. The Choral Society is saved what it sought. We told plainly what we thought and we meant it. The astonishing part of it all is that our sunny prophecy is going to come true unless people stir their stumps.

We next advertised educational matters, and for reward had our name echoed in certain bursting buildings occupying a large lot in the northern section of town. However, this did not worry us a bit, neither did we lose much sleep over it. The ad paid for its space, and this week we received a printed appeal to help the Boy Scouts in their building campaign. Perhaps we shall bite, as we are ever easy.

Our third venture was along the lines of publicizing the Auxiliary of the American Legion. Oh tempora! Oh mores! Heisse hunden! Schmalgesicht! Words of severe castigation were dumped on us by the bucketful. Meetings were announced, held, dismissed and held again. Shirts came off many figures which ought to have known better than divest themselves of 'em. Philadelphia papers came to the rescue with Lokum galore and bunkum aplenty until the welkin rang with iniquitous irony and malignant metaphor. But it all died out. The very excellent Auxiliary received publicity the depths of which it never sounded, nor will it ever sound them. Peace once more finally stole over the Borough. Muskets and bowie knives were reluctantly returned to their dusty corners and the glorious Flag of the Nation will wave next Fourth of July.

And now we are offered the most valued compliment of all. After having bought up all the fire-arms, cartridges, edged tools and weapons—after cornering the market in feather beds, fence rails and tar, it is safe to mention it. We are sought as a means of arousing lethargy. Narberth members of that 1907 Army which made the World safe for almost everything, but coal dealers and getting 'em to realize the fact that their personal efforts and no strong cooperation is needed by the Speakman Post here in their own town.

Some say, "Gentlemen, soldiers have been here, but the utmost number which can be packed out of their arm chairs, or jiggled out of their collars and disconnected from their radio equipment on Legion nights is on an average eighty-five. These figures are subject to the most rigorous inspection, refutation, multiplication or subtraction by Commander Fretz or any of his Commandment if they see the need of it. That, however, is neither here nor there. The Legionnaires are not alive to the dangers lurking on our borders. Who in need knows when the barbarians of Lower Merion, the wild Welshmen or cynwyl, Gladwyn and Baba may sweep over Montgomery Pike, drain the General Wayne dry and wage warfare against this Year Round Town? Again, who is sufficiently versed in gastronomy to sense an imminent and by month Merionians or Wynnewachians, who know not the meaning of the word "mercy," who take Narberth to be some part of a sleeping car who cut their liver without cream gravy, who are in no wise put out when the five dollar tenderloins are rolled with blood?

These are portentous times, and something must be done about it. On the Monday night that is just starting everyone in the face, there will be assembled here at the Legion's belated a galaxy of stars, the like of which has never before been seen. The fullest table of what is going to transpire has been poured into our gently flapping ears, and would, ah would we could divulge it here! But we are pledged to secrecy. If the affair comes off without many ashes being imposed on the bare back of entertainment committee by Magis trade Walker, we shall be the loser by sixty-four cents.

It is breathed of darkened windows - of doors opened but the width of a foot to see whether the anxious entrant is "one of 'em" or an outsider. Dame Rumor has swooshed of strange sights to be glimpsed somewhere on Monday night on this coming Monday night, when the Fire Siren sings its note indicating the Zero hour. Whispers are heard to the effect that certain female inebriantes boldly state Wilbur and Gregory and Alexander will positively "not stir one step out of the house if I know anything about it," all of which assures us that these specified gentlemen won't even go home to dinner that night.

The one thing we hope will not transpire is police intervention. Dear, dear! How that would besmirch the fair name of our delightful Borough and plant upon the record for conservatism and wholesome good behavior a stigma of such character as would stare into the faces of the coming generation and say with raucous gurgles, "Ha! Your Dad was one of the bunch pinched that night!"

Congratulations are being extended to Miss Jean Fitzpatrick, of Merion Avenue on the completion of her course at the Peirce School of Business Administration.

HEARD IN A PENITENTIARY

A seasoned burglar serving a long sentence was asked what was the surest protection against robbery. His answer was: "First, LIGHT; second, a good dog." We have become so used to safety on our streets and in our homes as a result of good illumination that we, perhaps, do not realize what our condition would be without this great, modern protection.

NEW BOOKS IN THE LIBRARY.

Four Interesting Biographies.

Biographies are always to be the most interesting of books. The most recent additions to the library are four biographies of men of the 19th century, which include biographies of men of all countries who had a definite influence on thought or action in the 19th century.

Like Lord Bryce, who in his "American Commonwealth" gave us the most authoritative and scholarly work that has yet appeared in reference to our political institutions, this other Englishman, Charnock, is the author of the first biography of Lincoln so far complete. This coincidence is not accidental. Englishmen like Bryce and Charnock are sufficiently close to America in real qualities to possess an intuitive and understanding insight into our institutions and events of the same time they are sufficiently removed to afford them that degree of detachment which is necessary to the unprejudiced development of scholarly development. It should follow that Americans could become the best commentators on English men and affairs, but further discussion of that point is irrelevant here.

"Win, a Morgan and His Writings" is another English book which will appeal with equal interest to Englishmen and Americans, comprising as it does the life and letters of two rare English poets, both artists, both literary, both gifted with wit and humor and sympathetic insight into human nature.

The book is illustrated with 35 copies of photographs of Win, de Morgan's pottery and Evelyn de Morgan's paintings, and delightful humorous sketches taken from the note books of the former. As an example of his letters from the one to Burne Jones, which begins:

"Dear Ned: I meant to have come in yesterday evening but I was engaged to be married and couldn't. I wanted to convey to you the news of two engagements that have just come to pass. One is my own. I am engaged to a lady. The other is Evelyn Pickering's—she is engaged to a fellow."

In "Beasts, Men and Gods," Dr. Ossendowski gives a record of his perilous journey through Russia in an attempt to save his life from the Bolsheviks. Lonely months of exile on snow bound mountain sides, hazardous travels through suspicious and menacing tribes, daily encounters with most unforeseen and frightful dangers; all these combine to make a thrilling tale of adventure, resourcefulness and courage.

Baring's "Puppet Show of Memory"—here is given an entirely different aspect of Russia, the Russia of 1904-1906, when the first outbreak of revolution occurred; the Russia of 1912-13, when peasants could still sing at the close of the day's work; the Russia that could impress one with the charm of its country and the fascination of its people. Chapters on Paris, Copenhagen, Rome, London, and Constantinople, with the diplomats and well-known characters of those cities, indicate the scope of the work. A book of recollections by an English journalist and critic and written most entertainingly.

for use as mortgage and take over the property.

Valuations are always very conservative and the Directors have been careful not to loan an amount on any property that in their judgment might not be fully covered at a forced sale.

It is always necessary to have money to loan when the opportunity comes to secure good mortgages on Narberth property, and it is hoped that the present stockholders will increase their holdings in the new 25th series, and that those who are not now stockholders will become interested in this new series.

If you do not understand about the building and loan idea, any of the Directors will be glad to talk the matter over with you and answer any question you may ask. You may be sure that Narberth offers you at this time one of the best investments you could make, leaving all the elements of safety yet earning 5%.

Remember, the new series opens at Narberth, L. H. Hall, on next Thursday evening, the 1st day of March, from 7 until 9 o'clock.

Chautauqua

bers, and their long experience together makes their naturally fine individual voices blend splendidly, and of instrumental selections, ones of the numbers doubling in brass. They have talent, versatility, training, two things that count.

This same company, consisting of Arthur Bowes, first tenor; Lawrence Madison, second tenor; C. Fox, baritone; and Arthur Mason, bass, has just completed two successful seasons under our direction, so that you can recommend them as tried and true. They will make good in your town as they have in hundreds of others. Two pit-grasses, first day.

Homer B. Hulbert

The following record is evidence enough, to justify Dr. Ward Dwight Hulse, Pastor of Henry Ward Beecher's famous Plymouth Church in Brooklyn, for saying: "I am not acquainted with any man who is so absolutely in touch with the problems of Japan, Korea and Shantung as Homer B. Hulbert."

Here's the record: Envoy of the Emperor of Korea to the United States and to European countries, editor of the "Korean Review," the only English magazine in Korea, author of several books on Korea and the Far East, twenty years in Korean Government work, crossed Siberia five times.

The above statements and record of Homer B. Hulbert would seem to justify many of our citizens in reserving Thursday as a date when they will plan to attend the Chautauqua. It is a rare privilege for Narberth to have lectures of the calibre of Mr. Hulbert, and the Civic Association is to be congratulated on bringing him here.
